Gumbo Limbo Nature Center

Gumbo Limbo Nature Center is a 20-acre protected barrier island that provides a refuge for a variety of plants and animals, some rare or endangered. It is a cooperative project between the City of Boca Raton, Greater Boca Raton Beach and Park District, Florida Atlantic University, and Friends of Gumbo Limbo. A boardwalk provides access to this rare tropical forest where, from the 40-foot observation tower, you can view gumbo limbo trees, migrating birds, the Atlantic Ocean, and the Intracoastal Waterway.

The Center hosts conservation programs for students, programs for public participants, provides a venue environmental research and administers a Sea Turtle Conservation Program.
