Map of Amelia Island

Navigating the Island

Most of Amelia Island is within the city limits of Fernandina Beach, Florida, the county seat of Nassau County. There are also a few unincorporated communities on Amelia Island, such as Amelia City, American Beach, and Franklintown.

The restaurants, amenities, and attractions on Amelia Island in this guide will be separated into three basic geographical areas:

Southern Resort Area

The Omni Resort is located near the southern tip of the island, with the Ritz Carlton Resort approximately 3.5 miles to the north on the A1A. There are additional golf courses stretching for a couple of miles north of the Ritz Carlton.

Central Island

This area of the island, stretching north from the Fernandina Beach Municipal Airport, has public beaches on its east side and a variety of businesses catering to the beachgoing crowds and the local community, including casual eateries, local shopping, and chain stores such as Winn-Dixie and Walmart.

Historic Downtown Fernandina Beach

In the northwestern portion of the island, approximately 10 miles from the Omni Resort (20-25 minutes by car), is a 50-block historic district with upscale and casual dining, shopping full of eclectic and independent shops, local history museums and markers, and local art.
NOTE: PARKING DOWNTOWN NOW MUST BE PAID THROUGH YOUR PHONE. INFORMATION IS AVAILABLE HERE.

Original Town of Fernandina Historic Site (Old town)
Old Town Fernandina is a community of "peonia" lots platted by the Spanish in 1811 and is the only Spanish town in Florida with the original site plat remaining. Constructed of wood and earth, the Spanish Fort San Carlos was built on the riverfront in 1816. Today, visitors will find a large grassy lawn, known as Fernandina Plaza, offering one of the most scenic waterfront views available on this barrier island. North of Bosque Bello Historic cemetery; 1321 N 14th St.

Pirate Playground (Local Favorite! Family Friendly!)
Playground for children of all abilities set in a breezy, shaded area amongst the trees. Wheelchair accessible. Located behind the Atlantic Recreation Center and close to an entrance to Egan's Creek Greenway; 2500 Atlantic Avenue.
